FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION

750ML BOTTLE

WHITES

- 2011 Le Soula Blanc, Gérard Gauby, Vin de Pays des Cêtes Catalanes, France
Gérard Gauby took over the chalky soils of the family estate back in 1985. Today he drives the business into the future by creating wines of great balance and concentration. £69
- 2016 Ochota Barrels Slint Chardonnay, Adelaide Hills, South Australia
Team Ochota is made up of Amber and Tarras Ochota. They travelled the world in a VW campervan surfing and tasting wine before setting up shop in Adelaide Hills to make this amazingly precise Chardonnay. £70
- 2013 Saint Aubin, Caroline Morey, Burgundy, France
Complex nut, vanilla and crushed pear characteristics. Nice honeysuckle finish to it. Caroline currently manages 6ha of vineyards under her own name and is one of the most exciting winemakers in Burgundy right now. £85

ROSÉ

- 2015 l,Équipe Rosé, Domaine du Peyre, Luberon, France
Former editor of the wine guide The Gault Milau, Patricia Alexandre turned her hand to making wine at Domaine Peyre. This rosé is a winner. All the fruit (mostly Grenache and Syrah) is harvested at night to retain freshness. Its a stunning wine full of fresh apricots and pear with a refined dry finish. All wrapped up in a bottle evoking her journalistic past. You absolutely can enjoy rosé anytime of the year. £39

REDS

- 2016 Strenua Syrah, Yarra Valley, Victoria, Australia
Take the train west out of Flinders Street Station and in about 90 minutes you'll find yourself in the heart of the Yarra Valley. Its an amazing space for creating wines. The Strenua is a wonderful expression of how modern day Australian winemakers Rhen Dodd and Dale Wheeler are defying expectations of Syrah. Its made from mostly whole bunch clusters of fruit locking in freshness. Juicy, crunchy black fruits on the palate. The finish is beautifully refined and elegant. Not at all what you might expect, all the better for it. £70
- 2011 Andrew Will Red, Champoux Vineyard, Washington, USA
Warm winds from the Pacific provide a comforting blanket for the vines to sit under here in Washington State. What you end up with is a structured red fuelled with cassis, subtle tobacco notes and a toasty focused finish. £105
- 2015 L.A.S Vino Nebbiolo, Las Vino, Margaret River, Australia
The relatively temperate Margaret River is perfect for Nebbiolo. Arguably Italy's finest noble variety, Nebbiolo thrives here as like Pinot Noir its fussy about where it grows. LAS is steeped in local expertise - Vanya Cullen's nephew Nic makes this. You can find one of her family's wines further in the the list. Expect dark winter berries, a crunchy texture and silky tannins. £110
- 2012 Kalleske Shiraz, Johann Georg, Barossa Valley, South Australia
Shiraz and the Barossa Valley are synonymous. The fruit comes from original Kalleske vines planted in 1875 - twisty gnarly looking things that hardly bare fruit. What fruit they do bare is super concentrated creating chewy textured reds bursting with berry, spice and pepper. £130
- 2004 Nuits-St-Georges 1er Cru, Pruliers, Grivot, Burgundy, France
Frost, hail and mould are perhaps not the words to use when describing the desirability of a wine. The 2004s are worthy of your time though. A thoroughly difficult growing season was saved through skillful vine management and a welcome hot, windy and dry September. Most of the wines were written off at an early stage, a hasty decision as they have matured into fully structured reds with a delicate silky finish. Properly good wines! £160
